This city sure has some "rabid" movie fans. This statement can be backed up by the crowd that tried to get in the first and second performance of the Unique Friday evening when the famous film, "A Fool There Was" was presented. Marshfield paper hangers and calomine men have reasons to believe that their services will be in great demand this coming spring, when time for the semi-annual house cleaning comes around. The icy condition of all roofs in the city for the past few weeks spoiled many interiors. This was caused by water which had backed up under the shingles and seeped through the roof, dripping down into the rooms below. This is the first time in years that a condition of this kind has prevailed. But then somebody's loss is always somebody's gain and in this instance the painters will reap the benefit.

Pollard, whose decision was two to one in favor of the affirmative. This was the first tryout for both schools and many students were present.

Councilman H. W. Tuttrup of Appleton was in the city Monday for the purpose of making payment to City Treasurer Matt Wright of the taxes due the city from the Fox River Land company. Mr. Tuttrup has been manager of the land company for a number of years and is well known throughout this city. He has been a member of the commission council at Appleton since that city adopted the commission form of government, and a Times man learned from him Monday evening that since that form of government has been in force in Appleton the city has turned a deficit of about $15,000 into a surplus of $140,000. The latter amount is now on hand in cash in Appleton banks and is calculated by the commissioners to be enough to run the city throughout the present year. Appleton's tax rate is now about $2 on the $100.

THREE NOTED STARS IN "RESURRECTION"

Three great dramatic stars, each noted for abounding genius, appear together in the William Fox production of Count Leo Tolstoy's "A Woman's Resurrection," tending to this to this screen drama extraordinary strength and forming a combination of dramatic talent that could not be seen in any two dollar theater in the country. "A Woman's Resurrection" comes to the Unique theater on Friday of this week, and in it can be seen not only Betty Nansen, the famous royal actress of Europe, but also William J. Kelly, the favorite young American leading man and Edward Jose, famous to the William Fox public by his striking work in "A Fool There Was," "The Celebrated Scandal," and "Anna Karenina," supported by a splendid cast.

Betty Nansen, as Katusha Maslova, gives a marvelously moving performance of the erring woman who, more sinned against than sinning, falls into the foulest depths of degradation, only to find amid the wild steppes of snow-covered Siberia a spiritual rebirth. It can be said in fact, that she has reached heights of drama which would seem impossible of human attainment and has made of Katusha, a haunting picture of wonderful power and beauty. From the earlier scenes of the play where Katusha is betrayed to the last great climax Miss Nansen's art rings strong and true. In the court-room scene where, although innocent, she is condemned to the horrors of Siberia for life, she attains a lofty summit of emotional acting that for its sweep and almost painful impressiveness must rank with the great dramatic creations of all time.

Manager Rice has inaugurated a new feature in the shape of an orchestra of three pieces, which is claimed to be one of the best of its size ever heard here.
